Growing Season:

2020 saw a dry start to the growing season with winter rainfall well below average. Cold and windy conditions during flowering resulted in smaller yields. Early summer saw a continuation of dry conditions, but temperatures moderated significantly coupled with significant rainfall in late February and March freshened up canopies providing an ideal finish to the growing season.

Tasting Notes:

A generous mouthfeel with notes of tinned apricot and brioche on the nose. Preserved lemon, apple and orange zest follow on the palate, along with a fine bead. Finishing with lovely length and a pin-point acid profile.

Cellaring Potential: 4-5 Years.
